First People to America.

The journey was by boat via the coast
from Siberia along the Bering Strait.
(See below.)

According to the Clovis model, the first humans to reach the Americas were c. 12,300 BCE. The theory suggests the journey was by boat via the coast from Siberia along the Bering Strait. In rewriting the ancient history of the Americas stretching down as far as Monte Verde in Chile, powerful new DNA resource techniques including PCR technique (polymerase chain reaction), have now shed additional light on the Neanderthals, flightless dodo, the woolly mammoth, as well as modern American Indians.

Full discussion to follow. During this further research process, please see the RGS, GSA, and bibliographic considerations below.
